Daztec

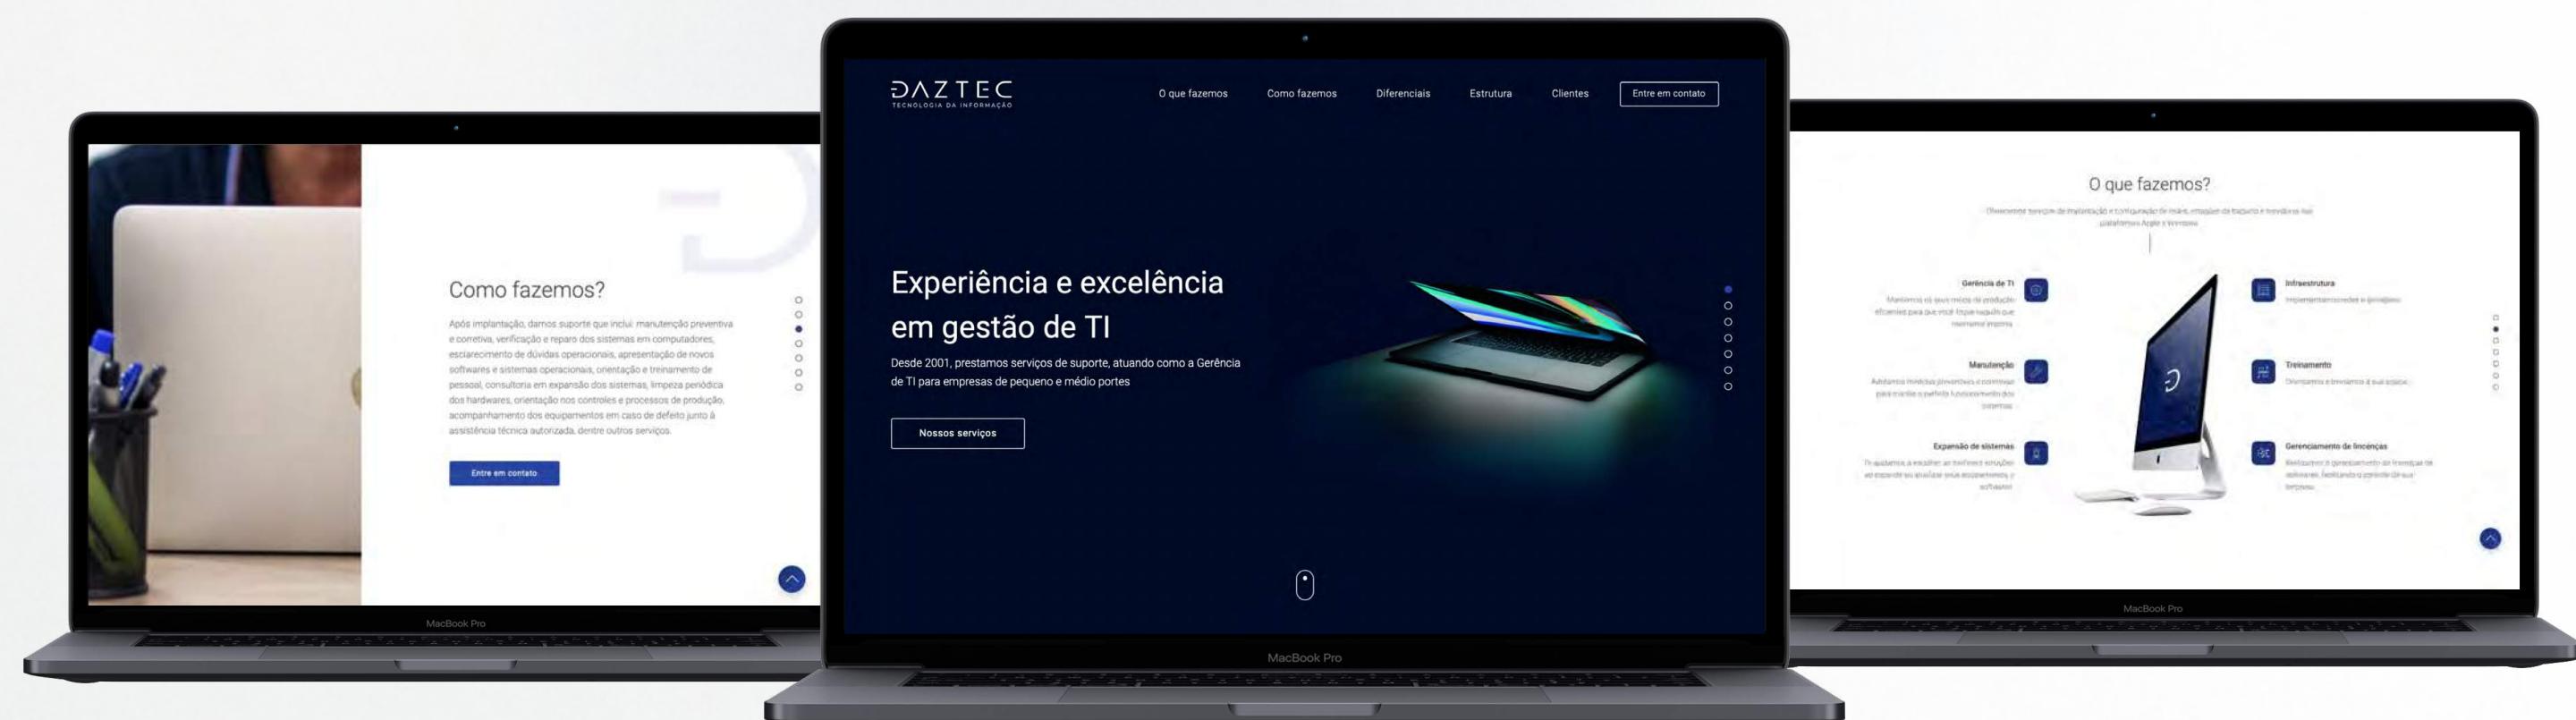

Brand Identity & Web Design

DazTec is an IT company that has built its great reputation through the biggest Brazilian Design agencies. They wanted to refresh their brand to express their excellence in the service and trust of their clients.

Essina - Wholefoods

Brand Identity

The brand name, Essina, refers to an ancient city located on the southeast coast of present-day Somalia. The company offers wholefoods, such as nuts and seeds, and works in a socially and environmentally responsible way.

Despite its African origin, the organization is located in London. Essina was looking for a brand identity that was linked to its history and ideal-audience profile (active women who care about their own health and social and environmental movements).

Cloudideas

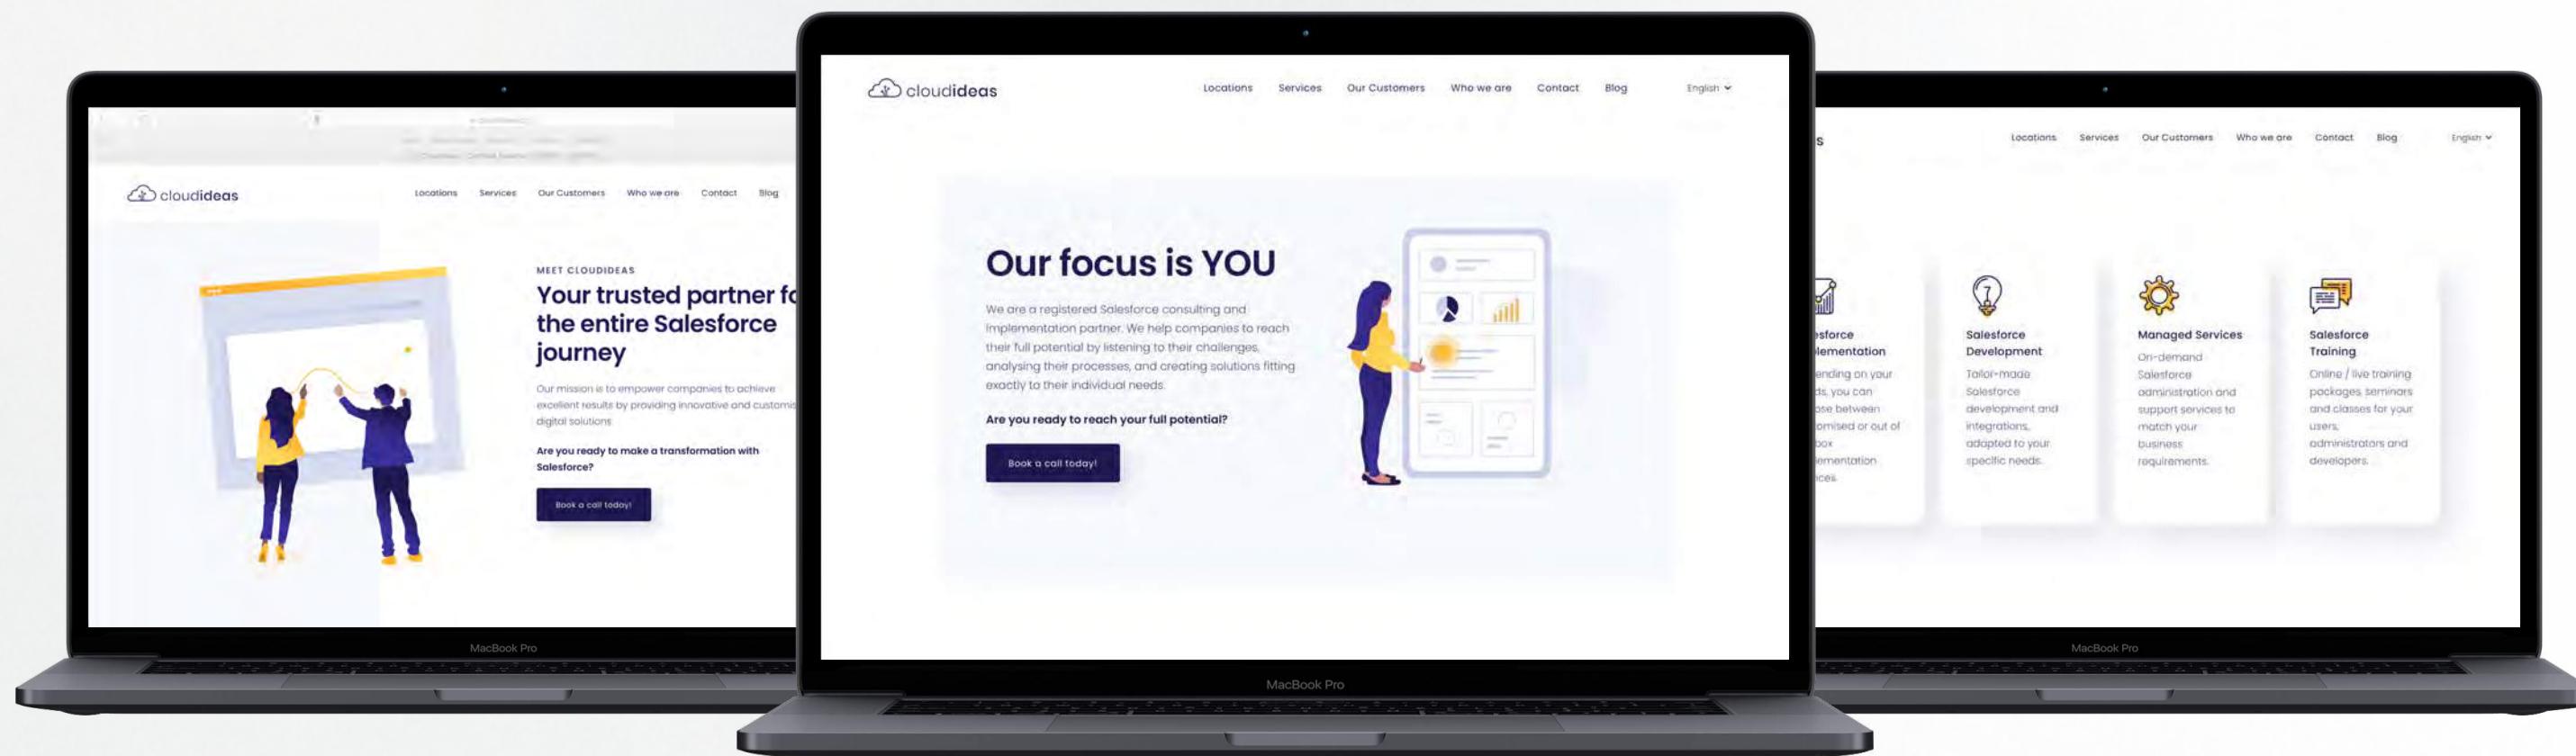

Brand Identity & Web Design

Cloudideas, an IT company from Germany, aims to simplify CRM processes and make customer tasks easier and more intuitive. They treat each customer as a person, not as 'another project'. And this is the exact image they wanted to transmit to their consumers: of a cheerful, receptive, and at the same time, innovative, reliable and technological brand.

More than applying Cloudidea's new identity on the website, our mission was to improve the experience of the users. We have created a website that is easy to navigate, smooth & easy to digest, responsive to all viewports, and naturally guides users to the company's CTAs.

Corrente do Bem do Lar

Campaign Identity

LAR is a philanthropic institution that works with vulnerable communities in São Paulo – Brazil, promoting educational and cultural activities for children. Recently, the NGO developed a fundraising campaign – called 'Corrente do Bem', or 'The Good Chain' in English.

In this pro bono job, we helped them by developing a campaign identity (a primary logo, 2 secondary logos, and a Brand Guide). In the process, we've explored the brand's colors, organic and playful typography, and created a heart chain icon (that relates to the campaign's name, making direct association with the 'union' concept).
